01 / DEFINE THE DECISION

My Ordinary Week in Austin

Turn the reasons for your move into a realistic week before choosing a home.

Date / visit windowWhat the move should improve

Describe two changes you want to feel during a normal week.

Three fixed commitments

Write the destinations and exact arrival times you cannot easily change.

Two activities worth repeating

Choose enjoyable routines you would realistically maintain.

An indoor alternative

Plan what replaces an outdoor activity when conditions are unsuitable.

Fill digitally or print. Keep passwords, identity numbers and account details elsewhere.

02 / INVESTIGATE THE TRADEOFFS

From idea to evidence.

Use dates, exact addresses and observed conditions. A missing answer is a useful follow-up, not a reason to guess.

A day with no event plans

Describe the home environment you want when nearby activity is not yours.

Time for the home itself

State the maintenance and administration you are willing to handle.

Untested assumptions

Identify which routes, costs or access details still need evidence.

The deciding tradeoff

Finish: I would accept this inconvenience to gain this everyday benefit.

Keep three things separate

What you saw / What a dated source says / What still needs confirmation

03 / CHECK, CITE & MOVE FORWARD

Bring a better brief.

Complete the checks that apply, keep the sources you used, and turn the open questions into a specific next step.

- ☐ Name two improvements you want the Austin move to deliver.
- ☐ Put recurring obligations and enjoyable activities on one calendar.
- ☐ Research conditions at the hours you will actually travel.
- ☐ Compare the actual home costs and responsibilities.
- ☐ Test a day when you are not participating in nearby events.
- ☐ Record which parts of the routine remain untested.

The question that could change my decision

Include the address, source or situation and the exact confirmation you need.
