01 / DEFINE THE DECISION

Austin Car-Free Address Test

Build a trip plan that includes errands, return journeys and the days your first option does not work.

Date / visit windowFixed-time trip

Record destination, arrival deadline and days per week.

Return and late service

Save the homebound plan and your latest likely departure.

Grocery load test

Name the store, typical purchases and how you will carry them.

Transfer tolerance

State the waiting and connection limits you can accept.

Fill digitally or print. Keep passwords, identity numbers and account details elsewhere.

02 / INVESTIGATE THE TRADEOFFS

From idea to evidence.

Use dates, exact addresses and observed conditions. A missing answer is a useful follow-up, not a reason to guess.

Door-to-stop access

Record crossings, surfaces, curb ramps and observed obstacles.

Equipment and storage

Confirm bicycle or mobility-equipment access at both ends.

Three awkward trips

List occasional journeys your regular travel plan does not cover.

Monthly backup allowance

Price realistic alternatives using current quotes and your expected use.

Keep three things separate

What you saw / What a dated source says / What still needs confirmation

03 / CHECK, CITE & MOVE FORWARD

Bring a better brief.

Complete the checks that apply, keep the sources you used, and turn the open questions into a specific next step.

- ☐ List fixed-time trips and their return journeys.
- ☐ Plan weekday, weekend and late-return transit separately.
- ☐ Rehearse one essential journey from the actual address.
- ☐ Carry out a grocery-and-errand route test.
- ☐ Verify storage and access for your equipment.
- ☐ Price the backup trips before setting the housing budget.

The question that could change my decision
